Hedges.

Appropos of the observance of Arbor Day the subjoined from a catalogue of Geo. Pinney who has made a specialty of evergreens for many years, will be of interest to those who wish to try their culture. There is not an arbor vitae hedge in Carson and the time and opportunity to cultivate one would seem to be favorable. Mr. Pinney's stock is so cheap that the loss will not be serious if it is not a success. Trees started in Wisconsin would naturally be more hardy than those of California. The APPEAL hopes to hear of attempts to introduce this beautiful style of decorating grounds.

So many failures have attended the various attempts at growing Evergreens that it has almost become a settled fact in the minds of many that Evergreens cannot be grown, except with great difficulty, upon the dry and bleak prairies of the West. If one will only consider for a moment the vast range of the Evergreen family, all doubt upon this point will be dispelled. The several varieties are confined to no particular climate or zone. They are found from the extreme limits of vegetation in the Frigid zone to the burning heat of the Torrid clime. Everywhere throughout the world, where any form of arborescent vegetation can exist, some form of the Evergreen family is found. From the coldest summits of our mountain ranges to the parched and burning valleys. Only give them an opportunity and a little encouragement and they smile a welcome amid the chilling blasts of winter, as well as under the exhilaration of the vernal sun.

Coming Attraction.

The Fargo Argus says of the play which will appear at Carson Opera House Wednesday night: This well known play, as given in Fargo Monday night and in Moorhead last evening by the Middaugh, Pfaff & Goodwin Co., was a noticeable variance from "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as generally thought of by the public. Many attractions in the way of specialties were introduced during the play, and especially between the acts notably among which were: "Mamma's Baby, by the well known comedian; Charles Alexander's musical act; the great child dancer, Miss Lizzie Mosher, and the essence of old Virginia, a dance characteristic by Miss Edna Clare. These specialties by themselves are well worth seeing.

The hen that might have laid the golden egg has been found in Butte, but her fate was worse than that of the valuable hen of the fable. This one was killed on the suspicion. The Butte Mining Journal is responsible for this:

"J. A. McConville, who lives on Montana street, killed one of his chickens for dinner and on cleaning it was surprised to find a quantity of gold nuggets in the crop and gizzard. Having about thirty more chickens on hand he began killing and examining them. In each of them he found a pro rata of nuggets, the total amount gathered from the thirty-one hens being $387.50, an average of $12.50 a head. The gold was sold to the State National Bank and pronounced 18 karat fine. Mr. McConville immediately bought 50 more chickens and turned them out on the gold fields in the vicinity of the hen coop. As an experiment one of them was killed and $2.80 in gold taken from its inside works, the result of a four day run. McConville has a virtual bonanza and expects to be a millionaire before Spring if the chickens hold out.

The undersigned will furnish first-class music for balls and parties in Carson, Virginia, Empire and surrounding towns, and also give lessons on the piano. For terms address this office. fl11m

H. EARL WESTON.

Death of Capt. Pray.

Yesterday afternoon at half past four Captain Pray died in Glenbrook of shaking palsy, a disease from which he has been suffering for many years.

The Captain was in former years one of the wealthiest men on the shores of Lake Tahoe, where he had built himself a beautiful home. His reputation as a man of his word was known throughout Nevada and was in every way associated with a spirit of charity. He was one of those tireless workers from the East whose mission seemed to be to fight the battles of adversity encountered in the West when it was yet untouched by the master hand of man, that it might be made the land of plenty and the threshold of a new country.

The fates had been kind to him in blessing his life with a true wife and two children, Blanche and Chester, who mourn to see nature claim her own.

Pasturage.

Two bulls, a Holstein and a Jersey, are kept for the service of stock. A limited number of milch cows will be driven from and returned to the city daily. Season commences April 15th. Dispatches state that Berlin is not alone in trouble. Distress is prevalent in every popular center of Germany, and the cry for bread is clamorous. During the week bread riots have occurred in Dantzig and Brunswick. Meetings of the suffering poor have been held in Hamburg and Breslau. In scores of places the strikes that have occurred during the past few months, always resulting in defeat and exhaustion of benefit funds have assisted employers to reduce work, thus causing further trouble for the men.

An explosion of giant powder in the Omaha mine at Leon Valley, Saturday, resulted in the death of one man and the wounding of six others.
